CRITERIA FOR PROJECT EVALUATION AND FUNDING

- The applicant organisation can request one project per year.
- A sponsor can present only one project per year.
- Non-governmental and non-profit organisations, that receive no government funding, can apply for UNWG funding.
- Projects within a public administration or government structure or managed by a major NGO will not be given priority.
- Projects have to be implemented directly by the organisation applying for the UNWG funding.
- Banking information should be in the recipient organization's name and the bank address in the country where the organization is registered. No funds will be transferred to individual accounts. In some cases funds can be transferred to a mother or sister organisation in another country, however proof has to be sent to UNWG that the total amount of the grant was sent to the local organisation implementing the project (i.e. that no administrative overhead charges were retained by the mother/sister organisation).
- Organisations can be funded for a maximum period of three years (consecutive or not) however, with different project objectives and scope for every year.
- Projects to be implemented in areas of political conflicts or war will be screened very closely for feasibility.
- Financing of water supply and drilling projects or any construction projects need to be accompanied by a local government approval, architect plans and/or a feasibility study, as well as maintenance plans. Construction projects need to be accompanied by a letter of support from the local community or government that clarifies who owns the land and what agreements are in place for the project to be implemented.
- Projects receiving more than 50% from other donors will not be given priority.
