MESSAGE FROM THE HONORARY PRESIDENT

Childhood is a universal human experience, yet the circumstances in which children grow up remain profoundly unequal. While every child deserves safety, dignity and the opportunity to fulfil their potential, millions continue to face poverty, conflict, displacement and insecurity. The latest United Nations report on Children and Armed Conflict paints a sobering picture. In 2025, 38,558 grave violations against children were recorded, the highest number in three decades. These figures underscore our collective responsibility to uphold and protect every child's rights.

This conviction lies at the heart of this year's theme, United for Children. Beyond differences in nationality, language and culture, all children are entitled to the same fundamental rights and opportunities, as enshrined in the 1989 Convention on the Rights of the Child.

Supporting children is never an isolated act. It means empowering mothers and families, strengthening communities, and laying the foundations for more peaceful and resilient societies. Investing in children's well-being is, ultimately, an investment in our common future.

This year again, the United Nations Women's Guild International Bazaar celebrates the rich cultural diversity represented at the Palais des Nations while raising funds for projects that provide vulnerable children with access to food, healthcare, shelter and education.

As Honorary President of the United Nations Women's Guild, and as a steadfast advocate for gender equality and women's empowerment, I am particularly pleased to see how women's solidarity, leadership and dedication continue to translate into meaningful action in support of children around the world.

I thank all those whose commitment and generosity make this initiative possible. Together, we can help ensure that more children are given the opportunity to learn, grow and fulfil their potential.

MESSAGE DU PRÉSIDENT HONORAIRE

United for Children : protéger l'enfance, défendre notre humanité

Cette année, le thème United for Children nous rappelle une responsabilité fondamentale. Aucun enfant ne devrait être privé de son enfance, de sa dignité ou de son avenir. Selon l'UNICEF, plus de 200 millions d'enfants auront besoin d'une aide humanitaire en 2026 en raison des conflits armés, des catastrophes climatiques et des déplacements forcés.

Dans les zones de guerre, les enfants paient un prix insupportable pour des violences qu'ils n'ont pas choisies. Leur protection n'est ni une option, ni une simple aspiration morale. Elle est une obligation au regard du droit international humanitaire et de la Convention relative aux droits de l'enfant. Le respect de ces engagements doit se traduire en actes, par la protection des civils, l'accès à l'aide humanitaire et la défense des droits de chaque enfant.

Face à cette réalité, la solidarité doit dépasser les frontières et les déclarations. Le Bazar du Cercle féminin des Nations Unies incarne précisément cette force collective. Celle de la communauté internationale et locale genevoise qui se mobilise pour transformer la générosité en aide concrète et offrir aux enfants les plus vulnérables davantage de protection et d'espoir.

La Suisse demeure profondément attachée à la défense du droit international, à l'action humanitaire et à la protection des plus vulnérables. À Genève, notre engagement commun prend tout son sens : unir nos forces pour que les droits de l'enfant soient respectés partout, y compris là où ils sont le plus gravement menacés.

United for Children : parce que protéger les enfants aujourd'hui, c'est défendre notre humanité et préparer la paix de demain.

Je remercie chaleureusement toutes celles et tous ceux qui font vivre cette magnifique initiative et contribuent, par leur engagement, à bâtir un avenir meilleur pour les enfants.

MESSAGE FROM THE BAZAAR CHAIRPERSON

It is a pleasure and an honour for Egypt to chair the 2026 International Bazaar of the United Nations Women's Guild. This cherished tradition brings together the diplomatic community and the people of Geneva, transforming friendship and cultural exchange into meaningful support for children in need.

For Egypt, caring for children is a shared responsibility and an investment in our societies' future. Every child deserves to grow up in safety and dignity, encouraged to discover their abilities and pursue their dreams. Supporting families, as children's first source of protection, affection and belonging, is central to this endeavour.

A little support early in a child's life can open a world of possibilities — a chance to learn, to play and to look ahead with hope. Yet poverty, conflict and hardship deny these opportunities to far too many children. Through the Bazaar's proceeds, we seek to reach less fortunate children and give them a stronger start in life, making a difference that can last for years.

The Bazaar also celebrates our cultures and the human connections that draw us together. Each participating country shares its heritage in a common endeavour, reflecting our shared concern for the next generation and giving international cooperation a warm and tangible expression.

On behalf of Egypt, I sincerely thank the United Nations Women's Guild, the United Nations Office at Geneva, participating Permanent Missions, volunteers, donors and partners. Your dedication sustains this valued tradition.

I warmly invite every visitor to enjoy the Bazaar and support its cause. Together, we can ensure that the warmth of this gathering reaches beyond Geneva, bringing care and opportunity to children who need them most.

MESSAGE FROM THE UNWG PRESIDENT

It is a pleasure to welcome you to this year's United Nations International Bazaar in Geneva, under the theme "United for Children".

Celebrating cultures, friendship and generosity, the Bazaar brings us together for a shared purpose: helping women and children realize their full potential.

Despite advances in technology and wealth, too many still lack adequate food, affordable health care, quality education, safe housing, security and social protection. Conflict, displacement, poverty and climate change deepen these hardships, making our theme both a promise and a call to action.

Through the dedication of its members, volunteers, partners and supporters, the United Nations Women's Guild transforms goodwill into practical support for women, children and their communities.

Funds raised in 2025 supported 20 projects in 20 countries, described in this brochure. We hope to achieve even more this year.

I thank our Honorary Presidents, Madame Tatiana Valovaya and Ambassador Thomas Gürber, for their unwavering support and encouragement. My sincere gratitude also goes to our Bazaar Chairperson, Ambassador Alaa Hegazy, whose leadership has given strong impetus to this year's event.

Our partnership with UNOG, the active engagement of Permanent Missions and the tireless efforts of Guild volunteers have made this celebration possible.

We also warmly thank our generous lottery donors, whose names and logos appear in this publication in recognition of their valued contributions.

Finally, to all organizers and visitors: thank you for your presence, generosity and commitment. Together, we can do our part to give women and children greater opportunities, renewed hope and a better future.

L'ADM INTRODUIT LA TECHNOLOGIE DANS L'EDUCATION AU SUD-KANEM

PROJECTS

Afghanistan: Afghan Youth Education and Health Organization (AYEHO)

AYEHO empowers marginalised and vulnerable communities by ensuring access to quality education and healthcare services. This project provided tables and chairs for 148 female students for each learning shift at Shams Tabrizi Girls' Primary School in Kabul so that they no longer had to sit on the floor during classes, thus improving the learning environment and the quality of these girls' education.

Armenia: Association de Soutien à l'Artsakh

The mission of the Association de Soutien à l'Artsakh is to defend the rights of the Armenians of Artsakh (Nagorno-Karabakh) who were forcibly displaced in 2023, and to improve their living conditions, particularly families affected by forced displacement. The support provided was used to provide French lessons, art and drama therapy, creative assignments, and educational excursions to cultural sites in Armenia. These activities contributed positively to the psychological recovery of the displaced children and ensure their future resilience.

Brazil: Associação de Desenvolvimento Educativo Cultural – ADEC

ADEC invests in female leadership potential by providing training in civic, technical and social skills. This project provided 80 women in situations of social vulnerability with 6 months of practical workshops, socio-emotional training, professional guidance and personal image support. By supporting these women, the project addressed their low employability caused by a lack of professional skills, scant experience in the job-seeking market, restricted access to information, and low self-esteem and limited socio-emotional skills.

Cameroon: Health Care

The NGO Health Care works to improve the lives of marginalised and vulnerable persons by providing free medical services, food, training in manual occupations and providing sustainable solutions to vulnerable populations. The support provided helped to rehabilitate housing and reception centres for orphans in Yaoundé. These children now benefit from refurbished bedrooms with electricity, a dedicated source of water farther away from the latrines, and renovated latrines.

Chad: Association pour le Développement de Mondo (ADM)

ADM is engaged at the community level aiming to improve the wellbeing of women and children through education, social inclusion and strengthening local capacities. This project focused on initiating children, particularly those in rural areas, to new technologies such as robotics, computer programming and virtual reality so that they are not left behind in the digital era. It also developed the capacity in the children to learn by themselves, and aroused their interested in academic subjects such as science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM). Computer and robotics equipment were procured, and training was provided to the children.

Colombia : Corporación Universitaria Minuto de Dios – UNIMINUTO

UNIMINUTO provides high-quality, relevant higher education to train individuals committed to social transformation and sustainable development. The project equipped facilities with modern, functional tools and provided training to children and adolescents aged 12-18 in pig breeding, meat processing and waste recovery for the generation of high-value products and renewable energy.

Egypt: The Egyptian ADVANCE Society for Persons with Autism & Other Disabilities (known as the ADVANCE Society):

The mission of the ADVANCE Society is to ensure a wide range of life span remedial, educational, vocational, and rehabilitation services necessary for children and adults with special needs, for them to proceed towards independence and better integration within the community. The support provided was to equip two comprehensive sensory and psychomotor development rooms to support the developmental, sensory, motor, behavioural and educational needs of 50-60 children with autism and intellectual disabilities.

Guatemala: Fundación para el Desarrollo Integral – FUDI

FUDI supports families with limited resources, with an emphasis on women's organizations, by increasing their knowledge, skills and attitudes to increase their productive capacity, manage their economic resources and develop interpersonal relationships in their family and community. The support was used to provide furniture and supplies for a community centre to conduct early stimulation workshops for children of the indigenous Kaqchikel population often facing malnutrition and slow development. Initially a selection of mothers were trained to become "Mother Educators" and in future they will provide the workshops to other mothers on a voluntary basis.

India: The Clarke School for the Deaf

The Clarke School for the Deaf aims to educate, train and rehabilitate persons with hearing impairment, intellectual challenges, deaf blindness and multi-sensory impairments to enable them to enjoy all the privileges available to able-bodied persons. The project provided hearing aids to 25 children who are now able to fully participate in everyday activities.

Moldova: The Moldova Project (TMP)

TMP protects the rights of at-risk children, especially those in vulnerable families in rural Moldova and refugee children by providing support and opportunities to overcome generational poverty and vulnerability. This is the third and final stage of support to this organisation and was used to expand TMP's Mobile Library that provides access to quality children's books for vulnerable families living in remote rural areas through the procurement of 200 additional books. With this support, children in these areas who often lack educational resources at home are now benefitting from meaningful intellectual stimulation.

Morocco: Association Bayti

The Association Bayti is the first NGO in Morocco that specialises in the protection of children living in difficult situations, for example children living in the street, by facilitating their reinsertion in society or within their families. This project aimed at strengthening the participation of children and adolescents in civil society and to become key players at the heart of their communities. Ten children were selected to become master trainers, and training was subsequently carried out for 80 children to develop their competencies in group discussions, communication and group activities. This project increased the children's civic awareness and enabled them to become leaders in their communities.

Mozambique: Pequena Obra da Divina Providência – Dom Orione

The Pequena Obra da Divina Providência – Dom Orione takes care of the wellbeing of handicapped children with special needs by providing medical care, physical rehabilitation, occupational and other therapy, and by supporting the families of these children. The support was used to cover the roof of the bedrooms where the children sleep with a bitumen sheet to prevent the rain leaking in, and to install roll-down tarpaulins on the sides of the big hall where all the activities are carried out, to provide protection against wind and dust – frequent nuisances in Maputo. The children and the staff who attend to them are now able to sleep without fear of getting wet from the rain, and to take their meals, and carry out their medical and other activities in the big hall even during the windy and rainy season.

Nigeria: Nigerian Association for Women's Advancement (NAWA)

NAWA aims to foster women's empowerment through education by providing vocational training to girls from economically marginalised backgrounds to increase access to jobs. Recognising that digital literacy is a critical skill for today's workforce, this project purchased computers to be used to provide training to 35 women aged between 18-22 from poor backgrounds, and to 50 girls from secondary schools. These women and young girls are now able to improve their possibilities for employment in the hospitality and tourism industry (areas in which they are studying), and use computers for research, online courses and professional development.

Pakistan: Koohi Goth Women's Hospital Karachi (KGWH)

KGWH aims to provide quality and modern medical treatment free of cost to poor women. Renowned and experienced specialists volunteer their time and expertise to provide excellent maternal and newborn care round the clock. The project targeted out-of-school adolescent girls aged 14-24 living in underprivileged localities in the outskirts of Karachi and provided: (a) evidence-based reproductive health education/training addressing needs of adolescent girls and young women; (b) vocational training and life skills to adolescent girls and young women, e.g. sewing, kitchen gardening; and (c) activities to offer better social and cultural appreciation and integration with society at large. Through this support, these young women have the opportunity to have a sustainable source of income to become financially and economically independent, have a greater understanding of their health care issues and options, and gain confidence in themselves as individuals.

Peru: Inmaculada Concepción Parish

The Inmaculada Concepción Parish focuses on the promotion of human dignity, especially for the most vulnerable in terms of health, nutrition or education. It runs a Development Centre providing food, academic support and shelter for those children and adolescents most at risk to prevent them from dropping out of school. The project provided strengthened and targeted academic support and counselling to the children and helped expand the centre through the purchase of 5 computers, printers, furniture, and teaching materials.

Sri Lanka: Roshan Mahanama Trust

The Roshan Mahanama Trust is dedicated to improving the lives of vulnerable children and focuses on child protection, healthcare, psychosocial support and education. For the benefit of the 35 children at a flood-affected preschool in rural Sri Lanka, and their guardians and teachers, the project sought to address problems such as failing infrastructure due to flooding from rain, blocked toilets, safety concerns over snakes and rabid animals straying onto the school premises and to create a safe learning environment. The project provided secure fencing, child-friendly toilet facilities, and a grass cutter to reduce the long grass and therefore the incidence of snake bites.

Sudan: Unified Minds Organization for Development

The Unified Minds Organization for Development aims to support the continued education of children affected by humanitarian crises, enhance community engagement, provide humanitarian assistance to vulnerable populations and promote sustainable development initiatives at the local level. The support provided school supplies, uniforms, and benches for the benefit of 100 children.

Ukraine: Hearts of the Unbreakable

The Hearts of the Unbreakable provides charitable assistance to improve the quality of life of vulnerable groups, in particular children, women and other socially vulnerable groups, by implementing projects in healthcare, education and development of children and youth, provision of basic human needs, safe living conditions, water and sanitation. The project addressed the problem of limited modernised space to offer opportunities for cultural, educational and social development for 2,000 children, teachers, parents, and members of the older generation displaced by war. The project funded the renovation of a dedicated community space, procured a photocopier, projector, laptop and acoustic system, furniture, roller blinds and play mats for the children, books and other materials to be used for creative activities.

Uzbekistan: Mahririli Insonlar (Friendly People)

The Mahririli Insonlar (Friendly People) provides support to low income families and assists in the treatment and rehabilitation of disabled and seriously ill children. This year was the third and final stage of support to a school in Nukus, Uzbekistan. Support was used to build a safe outdoor playground and establish an inclusive Montessori-based learning room to promote equal access to educational and recreational facilities for all children, including those with disabilities. Through this, 322 pre-school children from 3-7 years of age will be able to benefit.

Yemen: Y30 Association

The Y30 Association provides support to develop agriculture, health and education in developing countries. Support was provided to strengthen the economic resilience of 41 women literacy teachers by providing them with sustainable livelihood opportunities through coffee cultivation, agricultural training and market access. Coffee seedlings were given to each of the 41 women literacy teachers, and 1-month long training courses were provided by an agronomist/trainer on: (a) coffee planting and farm management; and (b) marketing and cooperative sales. By the end of the reporting period, the project had laid the foundation for long-term livelihood improvement by strengthening participating women's agricultural knowledge and practical skills, supporting the establishment of sustainable coffee plots, and preparing for future market participation.
